This Is PRINCETON

SO YOU KNOW THE TOWN?
This Quiz Will Tell. We're close to that season when new families move into Princeton — and when old families (even those with but a year's tenure) set about educating newcomers on Princeton Fact and Princeton Fiction.

As a kind of brush-up for oldtimers so that they can inform more than uninformed their neophyte neighbors, TOWN TOPICS offers this quiz on Princetoniana. If you can answer at least eight correctly, you qualify as "Advanced Authority."

Get between five and seven, your rating is "Authority Junior Grade." Between two and four, you should apply immediately for provisional membership in the Newcomers' Club. If you hit on zero or only one, maybe you'd better go back to Metuchen, miss one turn and start again. Here goes:

1. John Gunther in "Inside U.S.A." wrote: "The most beautiful house I saw in Princeton, N.J."

What house? Morven, Drumthwacket, The Dean's House, or some new kind of split level, complete with swimming pool and running children?

According to Mr. Gunther, and to the surprise of many, this favorite above all others in the U. S. was The Dean's House, that handsome but scarcely unique dwelling (No. 73) which fronts on Nassau Street — between Nassau Hall and the First Presbyterian Church. It was built as the President's House in 1756, designed by Robert Smith.

2. Princeton Borough's population was 11,859 in 1960. The increase between 1950 and 1960 was substantially greater than it had been in all the years from 1910 to 1950.

What happened: more apartments, accelerated breeding, mathematical error or something else?

Something else: a less sensible census in 1960. Prior to then, the Federal head-counters had ticked off students according to home address.

For 1900, the Feds decided that, just because some student had been born and raised and intended to spend the rest of his life in Chillicothe, Ohio, was no reason to stigmatize him — when at Princeton he was of Princeton.

3. It should surprise no one

TALLEST SCOUT EVER: Alan L. Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin H. Becker, a member of Troop 47, Stony Brook District, is eight feet tall as he raises the pennant over a model of Stony Brook bridge at last week's jamboree at Valley Forge. Actually, the legs belong to 6'2" Stephen Lane, son of Judge and Mrs. Arthur S. Lane, and Alan, who is just five feet, six inches. Stephen's shoulders for the picture. Thirty-seven scouts and three scoutmasters from the troop attended the jamboree. Story on Page 4.

one that education is still Princeton's leading industry, but, compared to the entire U.S., how much greater (if any) is Princeton's percent distribution of teachers, researchers, and other technical brains?

Is it nearly four times as great, about three times as great, something more than twice as great — or is it about the same?

If you answer "about four times as great," you're close, say our friendly electronic computers at the Census Bureau. In 1960, almost 38% of Princeton's occupational total were in that category, with about half of them in that distinguished company of "teachers, professors and advanced scholars." For the U.S., the total figure is slightly over 10%.

4. Princeton is a town of many mansions, particularly historic ones.

Which of these buildings is oldest: The Public Library, Nassau Hall — or maybe a former monkey house on Stockton Street?

The ex-monkey house. The present public library (Bainbridge House) was built in the 1700's, Nassau Hall in 1754-1756, Borough Hall (correctly, Thomson Hall) about 1825.

The ex-monkey house, historically known as "Drumthwacket Lodge," dates from 1696. It served as a residence for pet simians in the early 1900's when the "Drumthwacket" estate served as a town park and zoo under the benign residency of M. Taylor Pyne.

5. Princeton's volunteer fire department is so expert that the Fire Insurance Rating Organization of New Jersey gives us a rate only slightly higher than Newark's, which has a

452 • 3000

Some 2,500 telephones will be involved this weekend as the University makes its long-planned switch-over to the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's "Centrex System" as of 5:00 p.m. Friday, July 31. Under the direct-dial "Centrex System" virtually all of the University's phones can be reached directly from the outside — without going through a main switchboard — provided the caller knows the number of the extension he is calling.

The University's new general number — for the James Forrestal Research Center and the Plasma Physics Laboratories as well as for the Main Campus — will be 452-3000. All of the individual extension numbers will start with 452 and be followed by 4 digits.

Class A, all-professional department.

What is the annual stipend paid to the Chief for heading up such a meritorious organization? $125, $550, $950, $1,525?

Princeton's fire chief gets $125 per year. Firemen get an annual allowance of $30 to cover cost of cleaning and repair of personal effects damaged in line of duty.

6. The Nassau Inn has been variously known as the Nassau Tavern, the Nassau Hotel, and even the Nassau Tavern Hotel. In most Princetonians, of course, it is, as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be — simply "The Nass."

Which part, most newcomers ask was built before the Revolution? The two-story main building, the brick wing (except for recent additions), both sections, or neither.

Neither. It was built in 1936-1937 as a replacement for the original building on Nassau Street. But it was purposely designed to look as if it had pre-Revolutionary origins, and subsequent additions.

7. Most Princeton Borough street names have remained unchanged down through the years. Nassau Street is an exception.

Which of the following identifiers have been used in past years: "A small path along which one saw no tame creature," the "Great Road," the "Post Road," the "High Road," the "King's Highway," the "Lincoln Highway"?

The answer is: all of them. As late as 1675 it was an Indian trail, called "a small path, etc." by a Quaker pioneer. By 1697 it had become the "Great Road" from Trenton. After "Post Road" or "High Road," it was next part of the "King's Highway" of the 18th century, and then of the transcontinental "Lincoln Highway" during some of the 20th. Nassau Street is now also correctly referred to as "Route 27."

man Street, Morningside, Academy Lane, Canal Street, and a nearby hill once called "The Devil's Feather Bed" because, according to an 1802 guide book, it was "very difficult and dangerous to pass from the great number of mussy stones promiscuously distributed on the surface."

What are their current names?

Steadman Street (named after Charles Steadman, the Princeton architect and builder of the early 19th century) is now part of Library Place. Morningside is now Battle Road, Academy Lane is the section of Washington Road just off Nassau, and Canal Street has become Alexander Street. As for "The Devil's Feather Bed," it's still full of rocks — and is therefore appropriately called Rocky Hill.

9. Here's a two-way question on driving in Princeton. Why is it okay to go 35 m.p.h. on Stockton Street but only 25 on Mercer Street, 30 on Nassau but only 25 on the four-lane divided part of Harrison Street North? Second, why is the speed limit a mathematically exact 12 m.p.h. in one section. Is it because there aren't enough "25 m.p.h." signs to cover to town, there have been no accidents on the higher limit streets, there is a variety of jurisdictional authority on speed limits?

Because of different authority. Stockton and Nassau Street limits are set by the State Highways Commission since they are both state routes. Mercer and Harrison Street are municipally controlled.

The 12 m.p.h. for which few speedometers are calibrated has been set by the Institute for Advanced Study for streets in and around its apartment area — not to display the Institute's vigorous demand for mathematical precision, but to protect its children.

10. Last question. Former Princeton University President Patton once said that an intersection similar to that at Nassau, Stockton and Mercer Streets and Bayard Lane divides pedestrians into two groups: the quick and the dead. A number of Princeton intersections have been made safer with the installation of traffic lights.

At how many intersections are there green-yellow-red lights at present: eight, seven, six, five, four, three, less than three?

Eight Bayard and Stockton, Nassau and University Place, Nassau and Witherspoon, Nassau and Washington Road, Nassau and Harrison, Washington and Faculty Road, Bayard and Hodge, and Harrison and Hamilton.

NINE LOSE LICENSES

Under Point Speed Laws. Nine Princeton area motorists have had their licenses suspended by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Daniel P. Corvino, 19, 131 Jefferson Road, surrendered his license for six months for driving while intoxicated in New York. Losing licenses for 30 days each for speeding were Michael P. Sweeney, 20, 181 Harrison Street, Paul Perry, 22, 67 Marion Road E., and Angela Drake, 22, 13 Quarry Street.

Convicted under the Point System were Claudio Catelli, 30, 22 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, and Wilbur Higgins Jr., 25, 233 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, both 45 days; Joseph T. McGrath, 42, N. Main Street, Cranbury, and Robert Griff, 39, 17 Clover Lane, both three months; and Norman Matthews, 48, 2601 Pennington Road, Pennington, two months.

JUVENILES APPREHENDED

Admit Four Thefts Here. Recent entries into a Greenview Ave. apartment, a Moore Street residence and two forays into the Westminster Choir College were solved last week with the confession of seven juveniles who were apprehended here. Ranging in ages from 14 to 17, all were from the Johnstone Research and Training Center, Bordentown, a rehabilitation center for boys.

Four of them were arrested at the Palmer Square bus stop. When police searched them and found about $50 they had just stolen from the women's dormitory at the Choir College with the aid of a painter's ladder, they admitted all, police said. In addition to the four entries here, they also admitted stealing two bicycles in Princeton, which were later returned to their owners.

The police were tipped off by their desk officer, Charles Sperling, who had noticed the four boys in the vicinity of the Choir College. The two youngest boys were returned to the Trenton Youth House on Parkside Avenue. The others were admitted to the county jail where they await a hearing before juvenile judge J. Wilson Noden.

IT'S NOW A MIRAGE: This four-pool complex proposed for the northwest corner of the Princeton Shopping Center is an artist's rendering and may get no further than the drawing-board. Several residents of the Shopping Center area have condemned the proposal which will be presented at a special meeting of the Township Zoning Board on August 13.

TOPICS Of the Town

POOL COMPLEX DEFENDED

By Shopping Center Owner.
Editor's Note: In the following article, shopping center owner, George Warnecke has spelled out the reasons for his proposal to build a swimming pool complex on shopping center land. On the opposite side of the question, a Grover Avenue resident, Dr. Robert H. Bierman, has written a Letter to the Editor (see Page 20) lambasting the project. Also in this issue, TOWN TOPICS has sought answers from townspeople on the need for a community pool in its "Question of the Week" (see Page 6).

Attempting to clear up some of the controversy surrounding the proposal, Mr. Warnecke has first pointed out that all the existing facilities of the shopping center are now rented, and he has been approached repeatedly to construct additional ones. He states that any new construction would take place in the northwest portion of the center bordered by Harrison Street and Terhune Road, and that no variance would be required for such development.

Mr. Warnecke believes, however, that the property should be developed to fit in with the land in the adjoining corner, which was donated to Princeton Township to be used as a public playground. He states that "it is with the intention of constructing more of such public type facilities that this application is made."

He goes on to say that "the idea for the newly proposed Princeton Aquatic Club was generated in large part by the repeated articles and letters published in the local Princeton newspapers deploring the lack of Princeton Community swimming facilities." Mr. Warnecke has outlined the following advantages that would also be derived from the project:

- Satisfy the need for municipal swimming facilities at no expense or management problems to the Princeton municipal governments.
- The attractive structures and pleasantly landscaped facilities as shown in the artist's sketch (above) would enhance the whole Shopping Center area.
- All parking for the swimming facilities would be off-street on existing parking facilities and therefore there would be no burden on municipal street facilities. In addition, the pools would be served by existing bus lines now stopping at a nearby point on the Shopping Center property.
- The swimming pool being a summer operation there would be no interference with the peak Winter and Spring seasonal use of the Shopping Center.
- Membership preference would be given first to local residents. The proposed initiation fee per family of three would be $150.00 refundable on a pro-rated basis over a ten year period. The proposed annual dues would be $100.00, per family unit.
- In using the swimming facilities all age groups would have specialized supervision and instruction in swimming and life-saving would be offered.
- The function of the Princeton Aquatic Club is reflected in the modern design which consists of four pools, each of which accommodate the varied needs of the patrons. There is a diving pool 40' x 40' with a maximum depth of 14 feet. The swimmers pool is 82½' x 45', a learners' pool 60' x 42' and a kiddies' wading pool 30' x 30'; all served by the most modern water supply and treatment facilities.

FREEDOM'S CHALLENGE

Idealism Isn't Enough. Mrs. Lucia Hatch would like to be in Mississippi this summer. But the energetic, 28-year-old graduate of Radcliffe is the mother of a 4½-year-old son. So instead she is heading the Princeton Freedom Center which is helping support Princeton University students who are working in the civil rights movement in the South. "I'm trying to be as useful as I can here," Mrs. Hatch said.

The Freedom Center and Mrs. Hatch are in large part one and the same thing. The Princeton Association for Human Rights has made its offices at the Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church available to her. But her headquarters are really her second floor apartment at 39 Wiggins Street where her living room is cluttered with newspaper clippings, personal applications and other documents pertaining to the work of Northerners in the South. Mrs. Hatch has never been in the South but she believes she knows something of what is wrong with it and what must be done to improve the situation. Her father, Prof. Harold Stein of the University's Woodrow Wilson School, is "an old new dealer," she said. "We've always believed that bringing about equality is everybody's business."

"I've always been interested in the Negro cause," she continued. "But until recently I haven't had the opportunity to do this type of work."

The Freedom Center was formed in May with the help of area residents and students at the University. Its work, according to Mrs. Hatch, is somewhat unique among local civil rights organizations.

There are now 15 Princetonians — undergraduate students at the University as well as high school students — who have already gone or plan to go to the South this summer. The center will be keeping track of their activities.

The Starry-Eyed Ones. Mrs. Hatch's duties include raising money to support these area civil rights workers, processing their applications and publicizing their activities. It is unusual, she explained, for a local organization to handle this work.

Through her contact with Princetonians — primarily undergraduates at the University — Mrs. Hatch believes she detects a lack of sophistication about the implications of the movement which the summer's work should eradicate. "Princeton undergraduates seem more starry-eyed than the average civil rights worker who is doing volunteer work this summer," she said.

"A great many of them," she continued, "believe they are going South just to help their 'Negro brethren.' But this type of idealism isn't enough. One must be aware that there is a social and political revolution which must be brought about to remedy the situation."

"It isn't enough to work in the South just for moral reasons — just because it's a good thing. These workers have to be effective. You mention political activity to a Princeton undergraduate and he looks a little puzzled."

"But I think you'll see a change in them when they return in the fall. We intend to use the students who work in the South this summer as the hard core for an expanded movement in Princeton next year," she said with determination.

Danger Ahead? The disappearance of three civil rights workers in Mississippi in June may have already enlightened these students about the work and the possible dangers that await them. This incident has not, however, apparently diminished the desire of this new breed of socially conscious youngsters to participate in what they consider a challenge to freedom.

Although her work does not take her to "the front lines," Mrs. Hatch is enthusiastic about the part she can play in the civil rights movement. She spent six days at the Freedom School orientation program in Oxford, Ohio, and is in touch with the Council of Federated Organizations, the group responsible for coordinating all civil rights organization in Mississippi. The Freedom Center has raised more than $3,000 which will go directly to the support of area workers as well as toward helping the movement in general. Mrs. Hatch is now making plans for holding four parties in New Jersey as part of her continuing fund-raising activities.

An English major while at Radcliffe, Mrs. Hatch lived for four years in Italy before returning to the United States in 1961. She hopes to continue her education by doing graduate work at Princeton.

IDEALISM ISN'T ENOUGH: Mrs. Lucia Hatch, who directs the Princeton Freedom Center, is unable to join civil rights workers in Mississippi, but helps out by supporting students already "on the march" (see story this page).

ate work at Princeton. In any event, she said she will continue her civil rights work. "It seemed strange at first," she said, "for a person out of college for a few years to be working with high school and college students. But I don't think it seems so anymore. The movement in the South will fail without the help of Northerners and I think I should be part of this effort."

JAMBOREE!

Troop 47 at Valley Forge. EDITOR'S NOTE: Keith Lawder, 14 is a Life Scout and a member of Troop 47, Stony Brook District. He and 36 other members of the troop recently participated in the Boy Scout National Jamboree at Valley Forge, and Keith's account of the event appears below, written especially for TOWN TOPICS. Keith lives at 44 Knoll Drive and this fall will enter Princeton High School.

Have you ever thought of living for a week in the center of a vast city of tents? Well, that's what we did at the sixth National Jamboree at Valley Forge last week.

Imagine 50,000 boys and 3,000 scout leaders all camping under the same sky — at a place which is held so close to the hearts of all good Americans. What was the purpose of this huge congregation of boy scouts? It was two-fold to promote appreciation of our American heritage and to have a good time!

To provide for fun, an adventure achievement award had been established for all of us to try to win. To earn this award, we participated in activities requiring varied talents such as archery, shotgun and rifle firing, hiking, "orienteering," and knowledge of conservation.

Twenty-seven out of 37 of us in our troop at Valley Forge earned this achievement award. Our own troop was joined with other scouts from Princeton, Cranbury, Hopewell, Titusville and Pennington to form Jamboree troop 47.

A number of us took part in sectional as well as the national jamboree campfires. In addition to Art Buckland, Mike Reich and myself, others participating in the sectional gel-togethers were our three guest scouts from Nigeria, Joseph Alaba, Albert Achudume and Peter Uwagie Ero, who were guests of Bob Skillman and Bill Dargitt of Titusville and my brother Bill and myself. Since our return, people have asked us how we managed to keep cool in all that heat and humidity at Valley Forge. The answer is we didn't. The only way we could cool off at all was by taking showers, and I think that most of us must have taken at least three almost every day, until we were finally rationed to one a day.

We were there when the jamboree opened on July 17 with a talk by Lady Baden-Powell, widow of the founder of boy scouting. And we all attended the official closing exercises last Thursday. These included a speech by President Johnson and the traditional candle-lighting ceremony.

All of us who went to Valley Forge from here learned a lot, got to know many of our fellow scouts from other parts of the country, and had a wonderful week of fun together. It's an experience that we will never forget — or cease to appreciate.

COOK NAMED PRESIDENT Of New Correction Chapter. Thomas P. Cook of 696 Princeton-Kingston Road, a Princeton attorney, has been elected president of the newly-formed Mercer County Chapter of the Morrow Association on Correction.

The Association is a private, non-profit organization of citizens and correctional officers, who work as a state organization and in county chapters. The organization works toward the prevention of crime and delinquency, through helping to restore offenders to society, promoting the welfare of inmates and their families, studying the problems of crime and punishment, and promoting interest and participation in seeking solutions to these problems.

Other officers elected with Mr. Cook include Mrs. Lillian Cole, King George Road, vice-president; Mrs. Jerald S. Planks of Lawrenceville-Pennington Road, secretary; and Dr.

Robert Rowen, 15 Ingleside Avenue, Treasurer, all of Pennington.

Committee chairman from this area are Donald Goff, 29 East Welling Avenue, Pennington, nominating committee; Gordon Hubel, 500 State Road, finance; and E. Weed Tucker, 124 South Main Street, Pennington, public relations. There are about 50 members in the Mercer County chapter and approximately 350 throughout the state including eight other chapters.

News Of The THEATRES

MY FAIR LADY POISED

For Music Circus Run, "My Fair Lady", the Alan Jay Lerner-Frederick Loewe musical that ran for a record-breaking 2,717 performances on Broadway, will open at the Lambertville Music Circus this Tuesday for a four-week engagement.

Christina Gillespie as Eliza Doolittle and Leslie Redford as Henry Higgins will star in the musical. The show is filled with songs that became standards soon after it opened.

A number of other engagements are also scheduled for the music circus over the weekend. The third children's show of the season, "The Wizard of Oz", will be performed this Saturday morning at 11. There will be a cast of more than 20 in the production, featuring Linda Zettle as Dorothy and Joe Dickerson as the Wizard.

Felksinger Pete Seeger will give a 4 p.m. concert on Sunday. Mr. Seeger has recently completed a ten-month concert tour around the world, performing in 25 countries, and his concert at the music circus will be his first appearance in this area.

The Monday evening jazz series will feature Dave Brubeck and his quartet for the second time this season, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The quartet includes Paul Desmond on alto sax, Joe Morello on drums and Gene Wright on bass.

"The Sound of Music" continues at the music circus, ending this Saturday night. Show times are Tuesday-Friday at 8:30, Saturday at 6 and 9:30 and Sunday at 7:30.

COMEDY CONTINUES

At Bucks County, "The Choice is Murder," a new comedy-thriller by Dennis Heber, continues into its second week at the Bucks County Playhouse.

Starring Louis Edmonds and Gerald S. O'Loughlin, the show has evening performances at 8:30 and matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2. It will end its run on Saturday evening August 8.

GUITARIST TO PLAY

At Sundance, Rey de la Torre, a renowned guitarist will perform at "Sundance", the Festival of the Arts, in Upper Black Eddy, Bucks County, Pa. this Friday evening at 8:40.

Born in Havana, Rey de la Torre studied in Spain, where he made a name for himself at 16 as a concert guitarist. He has toured extensively in Europe and Asia, and will again tour the US and Canada this season. His classical guitar music ranges from the Renaissance to contemporary periods, and at this performance will include works by Dowland, Fernando Sor, Manuel De Falla and Villa Lohos.

On Saturday night, at 8:40 the Judson Poets Theatre will perform Gertrude Stein's play, "What Happened" in a musical version by Al Carmines. The play won top honors in this year's "Obie" awards for the best Off Broadway musical of the season.

Members of the cast, will also perform three solo dances. The management advises reservations be made by calling 1215-847,5303.

GARDEN AND PRINCE

Ensign Pulver (now through Tuesday) is a sequel to the highly successful comedy, "Mister Roberts," retaining almost all of the main characters and their problems, but little, if any, of the humor.

The old battered cargo ship is still plying the back waters of the Pacific, this time with Burl Ives at the helm instead of the tyrannical Jimmy Cagney. Robert Walker has taken over as Ensign Pulver where Jack Lemmon left off, and is diligently trying to prove himself a man. Provided with 104 minutes of running time and several trite situations, Walker's success is never in doubt.

The success of the picture, however, is in doubt. Unable to follow in the footsteps of "Mr. Roberts," Ensign Pulver should have resigned his commission for the good of the service.

PULLING FOR A POOL: Bambina Nini, 11, (left) and Linda Hulbirt, 9, both of whom will soon outgrow this small wading pool on Pine Street, are pulling for the construction of a public-supported, community swimming pool.

Question of the Week

Question: How urgent is it, in your opinion, that Princeton have a public-supported, community swimming pool?

Where asked: Around town.

Bambina Nini, 11, 76 Spruce Street. Oh, that would be good. Where's it going to be? I'm already too big for this wading pool. This is for little babies.

Linda Hulbirt, 9, Plainsboro. I think it would be nice if would be fun for everybody. I hope they build it as soon as possible.

Miss Jessie Hurd, 12 Pine Street, wading pool. Very urgent. Where can the older children go unless they go out and pay? I don't know of any place except a pool out on U.S. 1. Even if you had to pay a small amount, it would be worth it to have a pool where parents wouldn't have to always provide transportation.

Angelo Perna, 23 Carnahan Place, PHS sophomore. I wouldn't say it's urgent; it's something more like a necessity but not an absolute must. When it's a hot day, it's good recreation for the kids. I'd like to see them build one.

Mrs. Thomas W. Connolly, 21 Linden Lane, housewife. I don't know if it's "urgent" but I think it would be nice. I can see the expenses involved because it would only be maintained about three or four months. I think one should only have to pay a nominal fee to get in... say 50¢ for children and $1.00 for adults... nothing like a $100 a season though.

Mrs. Helen Caterson, 82 Linden Lane, housewife. I don't think it's a pressing need because they have the "Y" pool and the playground wading pools. But I think a community pool would be nice. I feel such a pool should be free and open to everyone—white and colored. If it's going to be a community pool everyone should be able to use it. I don't think it should be too expensive. Certainly it shouldn't have something like $100 memberships where people feel they have to go every day to get their money's worth.

Hugo Rossi, 42 Henry Avenue, 13. It's needed but we do have two or three pools in Princeton now. We have the "Y" pool and others but you have to be a member to get in. A pool is needed for all the kids where you don't have to be a member. Private pools cost too much.

Howard Siskowitz, 248 Hawthorne Avenue, PHS senior. I think it would be a good idea from the standpoint of convenience; it would be a place to go. But, otherwise, I don't feel it's terribly necessary as it would be in a big city. I guess it's like air-conditioning if you have it, you like it; if you don't, you make do.

Cheri Klug, 10, 122 Linden Lane. Well, we really need one but it seems to be awfully hard to get one. I'd very much like to see them build one. It would be worth 50¢ a day to me to be able to go swimming in a big pool.

John Litostansky, 21 Hillside Road, mechanic at Princeton University's garage. It's hard to say, especially the way things are today. It'll cost a lot of money... the taxpayers are going to holler. It'd be nice, though, for the kids. Instead of hanging around street corners it would give them a place to go. Of course, there's always going to be some who will say no, but, for me, I'd say, yes, even though I have no kids of my own and I'm a taxpayer.

David Britton, 9 Sergeant mail carrier. I don't think it's that urgent, really. We're only 35 miles from the shore; there's the Paradise Pool on Route 1, a Princeton Junction pool, you can join the Y — there's a lot of places people can go if they want to swim.

IT'S NEW To Us

READ A CLASSIC

Why Not? A quick dip into the classics after a hot day at the office is the best way to cool off. That's the summer philosophy at Male's Book Shop, where the reading hammock is strung up every day until 11 p.m.

Willie Collins' "Woman in White" is a favorite classic as we write, and Mr. Male the Elder has been campaigning successfully for this one ever since spring.

But he thinks people ought to choose their own, so after he's sold you "Woman in White," you're free to select whatever you like.

A pair of hilarious who-dun-its are on Mr. Male's list of non-classics. He likes "The Blind Barber" by John Dickson Carr ("hilarious is the adjective that goes with this one, according to Mr. M.) and "Mr. Pottermack's Oversight" by R. Austin Freeman. Both are 95c paperbacks, just enough to flip into a suitcase (probably into a secret compartment).

We think your vacation reading ought to include Ian Fleming's "Thrilling Cities," not because Princeton is there, or Penns Neck, because they aren't, but because so much else is.

Where's the thrilling? Well, Macao for one. Hong Kong for two. And Tokyo, Naples, Las Vegas, Chicago, New York...

Another kind of travel with Louise Hillary. Her husband climbed Everest, you will recall, and she tips you off on her philosophy of life with the title of her book: "Keep Calm if You Can."

In "Keep Calm," Lady Hillary is writing about the 70-day camping trip she and her husband took with their three children, the oldest 7½, the youngest 3½. See the reason now for that title?

We wonder whether she kept the children calm with a few of the Males' books for young people. "Kashitanka," for example. It's a translation of Chekhov's story for six-year-olds about a dog, charmingly illustrated.

"The Return of the Twelves" by Pauline Clarke, is the 1962 prize-winner about 12 live wooden soldiers. Here again the illustrations are a delight Older boys and girls, with their own allowance, might spend it this summer on "High Challenge," a story about gliders for boys, "Michel of Ironwood," about a French boy who's football-crazy or "Cur-tain Call," for girls who are dolly about the theatre.

Someone in the family is sure to buy a teen-ager the complete: Kipling, Conan Doyle, O. Henry or Poe. And someone is sure to buy, for a girl who's Crazy Horse, a book called "A Leg at Each Corner," which tells everything about riding including how to con the family into buying a pony.

How about, "The Cigarette Habit, an Easy Cure," for 95c by a man who smoked two packs a day and went down to zero? He says.

NACHTMUSIK, ANYONE?

"Dolly" or Mozart. You don't want to be the only one on the beach without a transistor, do you? Princeton Music Center, Palmer Square, suspects that you'd rather be caught without a bathing suit than without a radio.

So, here are transistors from $10.95. For $11.95, you may have the Panasonic, and for TOWN TOPICS reaches every home in the Princeton area. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Betty Wright Shop
144 Nassau

$6.95, a Sony. Plenty of the Palmer Square shop from time to time.

The Center is especially fond of a portable, three-speed, diamond needle transistor record player for $39.95 and they are sure you will be, too.

What to play on it? Show tunes, mostly, according to Center experts. "Hello, Dolly," "Funny Girl," "Fide In, Fide Out" and the Beatrice Lillie "High Spirits" are all sizzling hot-weather best-sellers. And listening to the record in your air-conditioned living room with your shoes off is so much more pleasant than driving to New York and having to sit in a third-row center seat watching Barbra Streisand...

Folk singers continue to be popular for beach parties, and there's not much new from the sandal set. Joan Baez, Peter-Paul-Mary and Pete Seeger continue to sell, sell, sell. The Music Center invites you to compete with them all by offering guitars from $22 and that Pete Seeger "How-to" guitar album.

No strings? Don't be caught on the beach without even a G-string. Music Center advises extra strings for your guitar before you go on vacation. And why not take a ukulele or even a harmonica? Ever try to sing while playing a harmonica? The Center also has batteries.

Just as a "by-the-way," the Music Center asks us to tell you that summer is a good time to pick up used hi-fi equipment. The market being what it is, they can't tell ahead of time what you'll find, but it's a good idea to make your needs known, and to stop at the Palmer Square shop from time to time.

Mozart? You'll recall that we mentioned him a few lines back. Ever try a Divertimento on a warm summer evening? Or a Serenade? Better than a gin and tonic.

A Shot in the Dark (now through Tuesday) has brought back Peter Sellers as the indomitable Inspector Clouseau of "Pink Panther" fame. The inspector is just as inept at solving crime, and even more ridiculous in his attempts.

Sellers is supposed to be solving a murder committed in an old mansion in Paris, but he never quite gets around to it. The gags fall one on top of another, with Sellers involved in a hilarious billiard game with George Sanders at one point, and spending an afternoon chasing Elke Sommer around a nudist camp.

Sellers' habitual ineptness is enshrined in its comic artistry, but the one-joke script occasionally tires. He is very naturally the whole show, and well worth watching nevertheless.

Question Of The Week

From what I've been reading, they're also letting kids swim in private pools over in the Westcott Road area.

Mrs. Barbara Lamb, Province Line Road, housewife: I feel it's very urgent — I really do. The community has lagged behind in the support of tax-supported entertainment both for adults and for children, especially in the summer when the community is no longer university-supported. Thirty-to join the club. So I'm in favor.

Maureen Howley, 29 Bank Street, student: Oh, I think it's very urgent. I feel we should definitely have a swimming pool. That way we could have more entertainment for Princeton children because there isn't that much now.

Danny Cruser, 37 William Street, student: I think it's something they need. It would keep a lot of kids off the street. A pool proved to do a lot for Rocky Hill; it gave the kids a place to go. I'd like very much to see them build one.

Mrs. A. M. Stewart, 204 Clover Lane, teacher: Not too urgent, in my opinion. I feel the number of private pools in the area and swim clubs like the Rocky Hill Club can accommodate the needs of nearly everyone. The 'Y' can take care of those who don't belong to private swimming clubs.

SYMBOLS IN ORIENTAL RUG MOTIFS

- The fish design in Oriental rugs with the tortoise border is called the Herati design. Fish and tortoise — symbols of preservation of principle of life, immortality, constancy and longevity.
- Buddha's precursor, Vishnu, descended to the earth first in the form of a fish to preserve the ancestors of the human race during a universal deluge. The second incarnation was in the form of a turtle to support the earth while the gods were churning the sea for the beverage of immortality.

Person Road, both on July 21; time.

"When I came here," he said between services. "I began with a choir of four boys, two basses and a tenor. Now there are at least fifty in the choir. We've performed a lot of Bach cantatas together over the years."

He had announced his retirement last year, but typically, "Well I stayed on until my replacement, Robert Hobbs, could come. I have known him for years. He was over in Cranford and Westfield. He is very fine."

Looking Back, Mr. Rudy, pleasant-faced, erect and looking younger than his 67 years, has served under four Trinity rectors: the Reverends Robert Williams, Arthur Kinsolving, John V. Butler (now dean of The Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City) and Robert R. Spears Jr.

"In fact, I was assistant organist at the Chapel of the Intercession in New York, where both Mr. Butler and Mr. Spears were rectors." Seated at Trinity's Aeolian-Skinner organ, his hands relaxed on the familiar keys, he talked over the past 40 years.

He was professor of music at Douglass College from 1926 until 1962, teaching piano, keyboard harmony and organ.

"Many of the girls have gone on in big jobs," he said. "My work at Douglass and at Trinity were both full time, yet they fitted together."

He went on, "Three of my former choirboys have become clergymen. I remember them well — Robert Bizzaro, Douglas Carroll and Robert Clayton."

He taught organ at Princeton University and gave concerts in the Chapel.

Westminster. Unknown to many, is the fact Mr. Rudy played a role in bringing the Westminster Choir to Princeton. He sees it as a very minor part.

"I was in charge of the Princeton Seminary choir before Westminster moved here. One day I suggested to the music chairman, Dr. Andrew Blackwood, who's now retired, 'Since Westminster represents the Presbyterian Church, why don't we have them here for a concert?' Letters went out, and Westminster's first Princeton concert evolved over the years into the group's adoption of Princeton as home base.

Fire. Trinity's fire two winters ago caused Mr. Rudy considerable anguish. "The water, the smoke, the cold winter in an unheated church — it was very bad.

"They estimated that the damage to the organ was about $7,000. It turned out to be close-er to $17,000! Gress-Miles of Pennington have repaired it, and they're still not quite finished. But I'm satisfied with it."

"He studied at the Louisville Conservatory, later in New York with organist David Williams and pianists Edwin Hughes and Alberta Jonas, and in Paris with Marcel Dupre — all famous teachers of their day.

Although he is retired, he plans to continue giving piano lessons from his home at 26 Moore Street. This fall his daughter Suzanne will begin teaching art at Douglass which pleases him very much. His second daughter, Janel, is married.

As he closed down Trinity's organ for the last time, a smile came to his eyes. "Now that I'm leaving, my chief feeling is one of great appreciation to the choir, the congregation and the community."

He clicked off the organ light and took his wife home.

ACCIDENT REPORT
Driver Injures Arm. Robert L. Wood, 31, 51 Leigh Avenue, sustained an open fracture to his left arm Sunday afternoon when his car was sideswiped by another on Route 27 in Franklin Township. State Police reported the other car did not stop.

Mr. Wood was admitted to Princeton Hospital and treated for the fracture and abrasions. More serious than the fracture, however, was injury to his arm's radial nerve. He is reported to be in fair condition.

Last Wednesday morning, Princeton Hospital was the scene of two accidents involving runaway cars which happened within 67 minutes of each other.

At 7:10, a car owned by Kathleen Saunders, 38, of Yardville, parked in the Franklin Street parking lot, rolled forward and struck a second parked car. Both cars then rolled down an embankment, across the sidewalk and into Franklin Avenue — a distance of 28 feet from the point of impact.

by Naomi Herubin, 21, of E. Millstone. Located opposite the hospital, the parking lot slopes toward it, but both women maintained they had set their hand brakes, police said.

Shortly afterwards, Doris T. Thompson, 71, 45 Parkside Drive, triggered a single car mishap a few feet from the Hospital's front entrance.

According to the police report, Mrs. Thompson was sliding across the front seat to get out of the car which her husband had just left when her foot hit the gas pedal. The car jumped the curb, flattened some shrubbery and hit the face of the building some 28 feet away.
Police estimated both the car and the hospital property were damaged in excess of 100. They made no charges.

SCHOMBERG CITED
For Work with Scouts.
William Schomberg, Washington Street, Rocky Hill, has received an inscribed watch and citation in advance of his retirement as assistant to the director of the Engineering Service of the Boy Scouts of America.
Mr. Schomberg joined the national staff in 1941 as an architect and was later promoted to his present position. The presentation took place at administration headquarters of the recent National Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa.

"A PEOPLE SANCTUARY"
Unobtrusive Housekeeping.
The 90 acres of Herrontown Woods, Mercer County's Natural Preserve in the northeast section of the Township, may not bear much resemblance to the great forests of the Far West, but there may be times when the five young men employed there in swinging axes clearing trails and solving erosion problems may think so. It's quite possible after weeks in the woods not to see the forest for the trees.

However, the summer's work program of the Mercer County Park Commission and its citizens' Committee for Herrontown Woods, described as "unobtrusive housekeeping," will enable visitors to the park to see this particular bit of forest with more enjoyment.

Veblen's Gift. Since the woods, the gift to the County of the late Professor Oswald Veblen and Mrs. Veblen, are dedicated to the preservation of a natural area, the visitors are, and can only be, hikers and other escapees from overheated streets and overcooled offices. They are joined by Advisory Committee. The man with a light hand on the use of saw and axe is H. Russell Butler, Princeton landscape architect, who with the help of other members of the committee has marked every tree, shrub and vine to be removed. With the guidance of Mr. Butler's original study and map, the network of trails is being improved, overgrown paths reopened, new links built to complete a peripheral walk and stream-crossings made more negotiable for the less sure-footed walker.

In approving the advisory committee's plan, the Mercer County Board of Freeholders and, in particular, Freeholder Richard J. Coffee, president of the Park Commission, recommended a Board of Consultants to the committee to advise in the eventual development of a Nature Center and an educational program.

Some 15 men and women, representing the fields of botany, ornithology, soil conservation, forest management and geology, serve in this capacity. This month the Girl Scout Camp Tamarack, will make a field trip to Herrontown Woods to study trees under the guidance of a Board member. Also, the YMCA Ranger Camp will combine "doing with learning" in assisting with a supervised erosion control project.

the private citi- construction of a highway zen must play a vital role in preserving an environment that renews and sustains human life. Already the crew of young men working in the park have acquired a protective interest in the woods. They are becoming purists in the field of conservation, possibly without being aware of it.
They are, however, continuously aware of the effort being made to leave the area in as

PATTERSON URGES TIES
Between Mayors and State
At last week's meeting of the New Jersey Conference of Mayors, the conference president, Princeton Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson, announced plans for improving communication between the state's municipal chief executives and state legislators. Mayor Patterson issued the announcement following a meeting of the conference directors.

He stated that the mayors of municipalities "where the tax money must be raised have seldom been given the opportunity to discuss the financial impact of legislation on the towns before it is offered for adoption at Trenton." He noted, however, that Mercer County had been an exception in this respect.

Mayor Patterson added that the mayors' conference would initiate meetings, among mayors, state senators, assemblymen, state representatives, and listing suggested fiction based on American history. Available

in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

July 30, 1959. Does love mar a sidewalk? This question had come up in a letter to Township committee from Henry J. Frank, 273 Jefferson Road. In a long list of pavement defects on Valley Road sidewalks, Mr. Frank had included the phrase, "D.H. Loves M.M." which he said had been scribbled in the concrete at one point.

The Township engineer reported that the contractor had been instructed to repair the defective walks. But it was doubted that the traditional public proclamation of a private romance could be considered a "defect."

"The Horse Soldiers" at the Playhouse five years ago drew this comment from TOWN TOPICS' reviewer "It's a variation on the standard Western love theme 'You're tough, Zeke, tough and hard and selfish and stupid. But I love you, do you hear me?"

Question-of-the-week: What would you do if you were mayor of Princeton? Answers-of-the-week came from the three-year-old son and six-year-old daughter of incumbent Raymond F. Male.

Said young Dave Male "I'd go to work and do work."

Reporter: "What does your daddy do?"

Dave: "He goes to work and does nothing."

His sister had a different opinion. "A lady couldn't be a good mayor. I like daddy better."

One of our aircraft is missing, was the announcement in a classified ad five years ago. It read "DID MY radio-controlled plane model land on your property July 17? Griggstown Road-Rocky Hill area. Six-foot wing span, yellow and white, valuable radio equipment aboard."

The New York Times, the Associated Press and all other major news outlets had been scooped by five days on the announcement of Bruce McClellan as Lawrenceville's new headmaster. The story came out nationally on July 21, 1959, but it had been already run that preceding Thursday in the weekly bulletin of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church.

TEN YEARS AGO

July 29, 1954. Variety is the one predictable quality in the mail that reaches the desk of a newspaper editor, remarked TOWN TOPICS ten years ago. The range from "Dear Editor" Many thanks..." to "Sir: You cur..."

In late July '54, for example:

• A woman who had sung in McCarter Theatre the preceding May wrote from North Olmstead, Ohio: "Has anyone turned in a pair of glasses I lost there?" If not, who is the McCarter's manager?" Answer: His name is...

• A man from Chicago: "Since we are looking for housing in Princeton and I've been told that your paper is the best source of leads, I would like to subscribe." Answer: Thank you. Subscription entered.

• From Scotia, N.Y.: "I have a collection of 2,033 newspapers from 48 states and 19 foreign countries. Since your paper is not available here, I would appreciate a copy." Answer: Here's your 2,034th.

• From Princeton: "Nobody I've met in my four years here can tell me what is the speed limit on Washington Road."

TOWN TOPICS number was a memory-laxing 2326. In

CLARINET DUET: Two of the students in the summer music program at Princeton High School are Douglas Adams and Sarah Peskin, shown here getting instruction from Roger McKinney. The program, an annual summertime treat for youngsters interested in music, is directed by Sylvan Friedman with members of the PIHS music department serving as teachers. (Staff Photo)

What is it? Answer: It varies. For example...

• From Princeton: "I was interested to read your article about the recent drought. It emphasizes the great importance of water." Answer: Thanks. Somehow the importance of water as a prevention of drought seems to be fairly well established...

From Skillman: "In your article on Montgomery Township, you created a highly erroneous impression based on a complete ignorance of the facts." Answer: The facts, as we stated, are these...

Also in late July of 1954 the desire of New York City ways to establish a landing site for helicopters next to the Princeton Shopping Center was being protested vigorously by residents of the area. Reasons given were potential noise and danger. In short, what's good for shoppers was no good for choppers.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

July 28, 1939. A look at TOWN TOPICS' eight-page issue of that date (the current issue in 1964 is 40 pages) shows a similar increase in advertised telephone numbers. For example, Thorne's in '49 77; Redding's was 12; University Laundry was 79, Morris Maple's was 58.

TOWN TOPICS number was a memory-laxing 2326. In 1964, it's 6099242200. Call us any time.

Price comparisons between July '49 and July '64 ads also show some notable changes. A Princeton realtor then was heralding the fact that "houses in the Princeton area are selling at less than they were six months ago — ours start at $8,750." But a 10-inch screen TV set was advertised for $325. Today, you can buy one with twice the screen size for one-third the price.

On the sports scene, Thomas T. Barr Jr., a Rutgers alumnus, had just done his best to help offset Princeton's steady superiority in football. He had willed $100,000 to his mater for an annual athletic scholarship of $2,000 to go to "a good prospect for the football team who will help Rutgers beat Princeton year after year." Mr. Barr's efforts have not gone unrewarded.

41 ENROLLED

In Enrichment Study, thirty boys and 11 girls, termed "disadvantaged," by the Township school system, embarked on an enrichment program Monday.

Chosen from pre-first grade and pre-second grade levels, the children will go to classes until August 21.

"Disadvantaged children," Superintendent John J. McKenna told the Township Board of Education last week, "seem to have difficulty with their reading during the primary years... We will expose this group to a variety of experiences to bring them up to the level of their peers."

Led by Mrs. Alice Paekard, principal of Riverside School, the children are being taught in classes of 10 by "four of our best teachers," Mrs. Doris Decker, Mrs. Patricia Van Ness, Mrs. Patricia Sullivan and Mrs. Leona Medvin.

The Township's most modern teaching devices have been assembled to assist the program. Each classroom is supplied with a collection of books from the library, film strips, records, motion picture projector, photograph, tape recorder, kinesthetic materials and 10 different primary reading text series.

"We have high hopes for the effectiveness of this program," Dr. McKenna reported. "Outstanding, dedicated teachers, plus all required material, plus expert direction, plus a well-planned program should equal a degree of success."

DULLES ON TAPE

Filling in the Gaps. On the third floor of Firestone Library overlooking the Princeton University Student Center, there is a small office containing among other things three tape recorders, two of them battery-powered.

On the wall to one side of the desk there is a picture bearing this inscription: "With grateful appreciation for his dedicated research in my secretary of State papers." Dated December 1958, the picture is signed by John Foster Dulles and is a tribute to Dr. Philip A. Crowl.

An acquaintance of Mr. Dulles when the late secretary of state was alive, Dr. Crowl has been intimately concerned for the past six months with preserving and enriching the record of the statesman's career. Dr. Crowl's third-floor library office is the headquarters for Princeton's Dulles Oral History Project.

A leaflet describing the project says its purpose "is to add substantially to the Dulles papers by tape-recording a series of interviews with national and world leaders. The tapes, thus obtained, and the transcripts made from them, will be deposited."

Person To Person

Cory S. Kanimler

We heard that a Pittsburgh milkman got this note regarding a low-calorie frozen dessert his dairy was promoting: "Please leave that half-gallon of skinny ice-cream today instead of Friday. I have to get into a tight dress until then." If you think this is more comical than truth, remember that Mario Lanza, the great singer, used to have two wardrobes, one for when he was slimming to make pictures, and one for when he wasn't in training? His weight would vary by as much as 60-70 lbs. In Poplar Science, Dr. Clarence Cohn of Chicago suggests that the habit of eating three meals a day instead of only eating when we feel like it may be the cause of many ills. He says the strain of peak demand on inner organs may touch off heart trouble and circulatory ailments; that since children instinctively know when and what to eat, that adults might well also live by "demand feeding," except for our ingrained habits. Serving your demands is our constant goal, and we work awfully hard to earn your appreciation. May we please demonstrate? Come in soon please! A GLOBE GIRDLING VENTURE—THE DULLES ORAL HISTORY PROJECT. Over the next three years, in all parts of the world, outstanding professional historians and other observers of world affairs will be conducting "Interviews in depth" as they seek to "breathe life" into the career of the late Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, "the dominant figure in the conduct of this nation's foreign policy between 1953 and 1959." Here the late Secretary, a member of the Princeton Class of 1908, is seen on the occasion of his 50th Princeton Reunion (June, 1958) with the 16th President of Princeton University, Robert F. Goheen. ited in the John Foster Dulles Library."

In Dr. Crowl's words: "This whole process is being conducted to breathe life into the documentary history we have of Mr. Dulles. Our purpose is to fill in the gaps of his career, his motivations and his personality for the benefit of future historians." The project, which should be completed within three years, will probably have more than 250 tape recordings.

Intelligence Work. Dr. Crowl, a tall, lean man of 49 years of age who speaks in a brisk, straight-forward manner, is particularly well qualified to direct the Dulles project.

Dr. Crowl, who is completing a six-month leave from the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence, was acquainted with Mr. Dulles from 1955 until he completed his career in 1959. In 1956, Dr. Crowl helped select the Secretary of State papers which have been micro-filmed and deposited with Princeton.

That, however, only describes part of Dr. Crowl's qualifications to direct the project. For a half-dozen years before and after World War II, he taught in Princeton's department of history.

As director of the oral history project, Dr. Crowl has spent only a fraction of his time in his Firestone Library office. His travels have taken him to England, France and Watertown, N.Y., the home of Mr. Dulles.

Among the distinguished men he has interviewed are Pierre Mendes-France, the former French foreign minister; Sir Roger Makins, the United Kingdom's Ambassador to the United States; and within the next week he plans to speak to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The interviews, said Dr. Crowl, last from between one and five hours and may involve more than one session depending on their length. "I try to make my interviews as conversational as possible," he continued. "But the nature of the interview varies according to the subject."

"Sometimes you can ask one question and the subject will take it from there and at other times it's a matter of question and answer, question and answer. In any event, I try to prevent the interview from becoming an interrogation."

The Long Process. The interview itself, Dr. Crowl explained, is actually the easy part of the work. The homework involved — preparing the interview, arranging convenient times and places — is the more difficult part of the director's job.

He is assisted by a half-dozen other interviewers, but Dr. Crowl expects to conduct about half the interviews and he is responsible for making the arrangements for all of them. The process begins with a letter from President Robert F. Goheen to the subject and is followed up by an explanatory use these tapes," he continued, "will be interested in taking notes, for one thing, and may want to save time by skimming over segments of the interview they consider unimportant, for another. The Columbia University oral history project has reported that only one person has listened to the tapes."

The project, which is supported in part by a Rockefeller Foundation grant, is run by an advisory committee of friends and associates of Mr. Dulles and educators. Use of the transcripts and tapes will be limited to serious historians, Dr. Crowl said.

The terms of when the interviews may be used and who may use them are specified by the people who are interviewed, he continued. But the qualifications for being a "serious scholar" will be broadly interpreted. For instance, said Dr. Crowl, "a Princeton undergraduate writing a thesis might qualify. But the tapes won't be used by sensationalists or curiosity seekers."

"A Dominant Figure." Though admittedly modest in comparison to a similar project centered around the career of John F. Kennedy, the Dulles collection is expected to be of great value to future historians. "After all," Dr. Crowl noted, "Mr. Dulles was certainly a strong person and the dominant figure in the conduct of foreign affairs between 1953 and 1959."

"I can't reveal at this time any of the statements in the tapes we've already completed," he continued. "But, in my opinion what has emerged is a clearer record of Mr. Dulles as a person and as a statesman. We've gained a great many insights into his personality and a lot of clues that will contribute to a better understanding of him and we've only completed a couple dozen tapes."

The tape recordings and transcripts will be added to Princeton's John Foster Dulles Library of state and personal papers. Mr. Dulles, who was graduated from Princeton in 1908, contributed his private papers to the university as well as microfilm copies of some 100,000 pages of State Department documents. They are housed in the Dulles Library of Diplomatic History, a wing of the Firestone Library.

In addition to their use by scholars, said Dr. Crowl, it is possible that teachers may want to play excerpts of the tapes in their classes. This too will depend upon the wishes of the subjects interviewed as well as the library officials.

Another Kettle of Fish. Dr. Crowl said he has found his work of the past six months unique and interesting but "a completely different kettle of fish" from work in the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence. He is due to return to Washington, D. C., and that other "kettle of fish" at the beginning of August, but he will continue to work for the project.

The administrative duties will likely be placed in other hands, as yet undecided, while Dr. Crowl continues to conduct interviews in Washington. He has deliberately reserved the Washington interviews for his return to the State Department to avoid traveling needlessly.

The advisory committee in charge of the project is headed by Hugh S. Cumming Jr., former director of the U. S.

"WE MADE A DEAL:" David Dupuis (left) of Cold Soil Road and Ivan Dommasch of Cherry Hill Road check the tires of The Princeton Airport's Cessna 150 as part of their summer job. The pay-off comes in flying lessons. (Story this page)

Bureau of Intelligence. The other members, appointed by Dr. Goheen, are Arthur H. Dean, the statesman and law partner of Mr. Dulles; John W. Hanes Jr., former deputy assistant secretary of state for international organizations; Dr. Joseph E. Johnson, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Also, Livingston T. Merchant, Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs under Mr. Dulles; Roderic O'Connor, special assistant to Secretary Dulles; Herman Phleger, former legal adviser to the Secretary of State; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Walter S. Robertson, former Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs; Gerald C. Smith, special assistant to Mr. Dulles on atomic energy matters; Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president emeritus of Union Theological Seminary.

Representing the academic world are Professors Jerome Blum, Richard D. Challenger and Joseph R. Strayer, of Princeton's history department; Dr. William S. Dix, the university librarian; Prof. Ernest J. May of Harvard; and Prof. Arnold Wolfers, director of the Johns Hopkins Washington Center of Foreign Policy Research.

TEENAGERS TRADE LABDOR

For Flying Lessons. Two of the happiest teenagers you'll ever meet are humping around Princeton Airport, washing planes, checking tires, felching and carrying. In exchange, they've worked out an arrangement for free flying instruction from the management.

"I've already soloed for two hours," says Ivan Dommasch, 16, a Princeton High School student, "and I've logged 18 hours."

David Dupuis, 15, is a late-comer with one hour and 10 minutes in his log book. Ivan worked at the airport last summer on a similar deal. He has been showing David, a Notre Dame student, the ropes.

Flying runs in their blood. David's father, Arthur V. Dupuis of Cold Soil Road, is a licensed pilot with some 1,800 hours to his credit. An employee of Food Machinery Corporation, he uses the company plane on business flights.

Both of Ivan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O. Dommasch of Cherry Hill Road, have pilot licenses, as does his older brother, Daniel Jr. The family owns a plane, a Mooney Mark 21.

The other afternoon, the boys watched with critical eyes as Mark Ritts and Dr. Arnold Hirsch, both of Princeton, took off on a short flight. They watched every phase until the wheels went up and the plane went out of sight. Then they went back to work.

After all, you can get a pilot's license at 16.

"Stop Goldwater!"

To the Editor of Town Topics: The results of the Republican convention at San Francisco portend a political emergency for those of us who subscribe to moderation in government.

Princeton residents — and all Americans — who would truly conserve rational procedures and democratic practices in government must work together to defeat Mr. Goldwater. As one of the nation's leadership communities, Princeton, must take the lead in developing a bipartisan effort to repudiate the regressive policies that Mr. Goldwater would apply to the solution of 20th century complexities.

The Princeton Township Democratic Forum would be pleased to take part in this bipartisan effort. Residents of the Township wishing to work directly with the Forum are cordially invited to membership by our secretary, Peter Mark, Wheatshes Lane, telephone 924-0191.

There will be much to do, not only for Forum members but for Independents and Republicans who prefer to work through their own regular organizations. By making common cause, we can insure the continuation of responsible national government and a responsible two-party system, regardless of our differences on the local level.

Pool Complex Lambasted.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The proposed swimming pool complex, to be constructed in the Princeton Center near the corners of North Harrison Street and Terhune Road certainly involves and concerns more people than those living within 200 feet of the site, who legally received notice. This was obvious by the large turnout at the meeting of the Zoning Board July 16. The turnout is even more striking considering the fact that most of these people had not been heard of the project until notified of it that very day by the Princeton newspapers and their neighbors.

We, who live in that area, feel that major zoning variances have already done enough to change the character of the neighborhood. The changing of Princeton Research Park to accommodate light industry and the reduction in lot size from two acres to three-quarters of an acre in the Braeburn tract are but two examples. To time and time again make exceptions in the name of progress in a community which prides itself in beautiful custom residential sections can please none of us who each year see our tax bill increase a little bit more.

Perhaps, the most important matter for consideration is the increased traffic now to the area which the builders of the proposed pools will not be a problem. By their own admission, it is their aim to enroll up to 700 families in the club, which means over 2000 people. Fernhurst Road, Grover Avenue and Harrison Street are broad attractive streets which already entice many drivers to speed ten or more miles over the speed limit. The safety of our children crossing in these areas and walking by the side of the road will thus be further endangered. It is hard for me to rationalize that traffic will not be a problem. In addition, the noise that such a collection of population will generate, in my opinion, a disturbance to any neighborhood. The people who need swimming facilities most in Princeton are not those who can afford to pay the initial $250 costs and average yearly $100 dues thereafter. I feel that the building of these pools will, if anything, delay the construction of our community facility near route 206. Further delay in that project is certainly not warranted.

When the original shopping center was built the land involved in the present proposal was to be attractively landscaped to help offset the effect of the commercial buildings. Because of financial problems, this was never done. Rather than submit to further proposals to extend the business area and since so much money now seems to be available, I submit that the area should now be planted with trees, shrubs and grass. This certainly is better than concrete lined excavations. The Zoning Board kindly de-

(Editor's Note: The following five paragraphs have been excerpted from "New Jersey, A State in Transition," a special supplement of the current issue of Fortune Magazine, sponsored by the N.J. State Chamber of Commerce and timed to coincide with the State's Tercentenary Celebration, the N.Y. World's Fair, and the Democratic National Convention in August. The special issue, the work of author-reporter John T. Cunningham, touches upon many facets of New Jersey but it is essentially concerned with New Jersey's economic and industrial position.)

One cluster of researchers revolves around Princeton, only partially because of the good country air. Research is there because Princeton is the home of both Princeton University, with its brilliant graduate school reputation in mathematics, and the unique Institute for Advanced Study.

YOUTHFUL AIRPORT OWNERS: There are few privately-owned airports in New Jersey. One is the Princeton Airport operated by Lawrence Tokash, 30, (right) and Webster Todd Jr., 25, the son of the New Jersey State Republican Chairman. The two have announced plans to expand Princeton Airport into a $1,000,000 operation. See story this page.

Brains tend to gather together: of the world to concentrate in private industry has come to take advantage of Princeton's recognized thinking force.

The Institute for Advanced Study is an academic retreat where professors hold no scheduled classes and where students take no examinations. Gifted scientists and philosophers have come from all parts

Research Center near Route 1. There Professor Lyman Spitzer and a team of researchers have built thanks to Atomic Energy Commission funds a multi-million-dollar "Stellarator," hopeful that their research on the fusing of hydrogen atoms may provide energy to solve the world's energy needs for more than a billion years. Others at Forrestal are working on theories of aerodynamics and on other studies of atoms.

Industry understandably responds eagerly to this intellectual magnet. RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center is in Princeton, deep in exploration of such things as TV tape, atomic batteries and solar batteries to harness the sun's power. Nearby, American Cyanamid has just opened what it calls "The largest and most modern industrial research farm in the world." A few miles away in Plainsboro, 10 privately-owned companies pursue cooperative research on peace-time uses of atomic energy.

NEW GAS STATION OPENS

In Palmer Square Area, "George Washington Filled Up Here" could have been the motto of the new Griggs Texaco service station at the corner of Hulfish and Witherspoon Streets. That is, it could have been if G.W. had only had something other than a one-horsepower carriage.

For the attractive new building, designed to harmonize with the other structures in Palmer Square, looks Colonial enough to have been here when Washington was a commuter. It was the intention of Architect Richard J. Chorlton to adapt the design "to conform with the Palmer Square architectural concepts as a service station can," and the result is both successful and pleasing.

Proprietor of the 10-pump Texaco station which occupies most of the building's ground floor is Howard Lesser, long-time Princeton businessman and 1947 graduate of Princeton High School. Mr. Lesser was associated with the Arthur J. Turney Co. here until 1959 as manager of the parts and service department. He subsequently owned and operated his own establishment at Harrison Street and Route One.

The new service station is equipped with full service facilities and has three servicing bays in the building in addition to an office. It also offers free vacuum cleaning facilities for car interiors at each pump, and total capacity of the gasoline storage tanks is 24,000 gallons.

In addition to the service station, the building contains rental office space on both the ground floor and the entire second floor. The grand opening of Griggs Corner Texaco will be held on Saturday, from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., with all profits from the day's gas sales being donated to Princeton's First Aid and Rescue Squad.

AIRPORT EXPANDS

To Install Paved Runway. Princeton, as nearly everyone is now aware, is currently engaged in a building boom. The most recent area-based firm to announce expansion plans is the Princeton Airport on Route 206 across from the 206 Shopping Center.

Basically, expansion calls for two major improvements: the construction of a paved runway, 3,100 feet long and 60 feet wide, and a new terminal building which will house offices and an extensive repair shop. According to Lawrence Tokash, co-owner of the airport, when construction is completed by November 1 the value of the airport and its planes will have increased to $1,000,000, or approximately five times its present worth.

Mr. Tokash, 30, a former airline pilot, serves as manager of the airport. He is joined by Webster Todd Jr., 25, of Oldwick, who ran a smaller airport the pair owned at Basking Ridge, N. J. The latter has been closed to enable them to concentrate on their expanding Princeton operation.

The new runway, complete with a 20-foot paved parallel taxiway, will replace an 1,800 foot turf runway. Fully lighted with boundary lights, it will be able to accommodate larger planes belonging to firms that ring Princeton. In fact, one of the prime reasons for enlarging, Mr. Tokash reported, was to lure some of the ever-increasing amount of flying being done today by businesses, both large and small.

Greater Safety. Unlike the old runway which cut across

Still another service is its licensing. Under law, planes, like cars, must be inspected every year. According to Mr. Tokash, Princeton Airport is the only airport in this area permitted to license private planes.

Before long, Mr. Tokash said, "The size of our air fleet should increase to 15. We have nine planes now. We feel that we will have the facilities to accommodate all company-owned planes in this area. We think this will be one of the largest and finest privately owned airports in the state."

Ginnie Wins Award

In Car Sales Competition, James Ginnie, of Nini Plymouth Inc., 809 State Road, was honored recently as a regional winner of the Chrysler-Plymouth All-Star Medallion Salesman's Club competition. Mr. Ginnie's citation was awarded on the basis of his retail efforts during the first five months of 1964.

Winners, who were selected on the basis of a nation-wide sales contest, were named at a Chrysler-Plymouth jamboree held at the Delaware Water Gap. In accepting the award, Mr. Ginnie expressed his great appreciation to his customers and to the Nini Plymouth organization for making his achievement possible.

STATES RIGHTS DEBATED

In New Mason Book, Dr. Alpheus T. Mason, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence at Princeton, believes that the states rights debate, which divided men in 1789, is still going strong today.

Dr. Mason notes that the issue has been "persistently discussed, not merely over a period of two years, but for nearly two centuries" and concludes that "a debate enabling of generating heat for so long cannot be reasonably considered lacking in the essential fuel of controversy on either side." His views are put forth in a new book, "The States Rights Debate: Antifederalism and the Constitution."

In an attempt to present both sides of the argument, Dr. Mason has included 35 documents dating back to the first day of the United States Constitution. The issues in the book are deliberately related to the recent Supreme Court decision that said members of both houses in the state legislatures must be elected by districts "substantially equal" in population.

The book includes among its reprinted documents a 1709 speech by James Madison, texts of the Bill of Rights and three proposed "dis-Union" amendments advanced by the 1962 General Assembly of states. The amendments, which propose additional powers for the states, prompted Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren to speak out.

Mr. Warren urged that a "great national debate" follow. "But if the discussion were to be informed," said Dr. Mason, "the relevant historical materials had to be made available." The book is designed to meet this need.

Dr. Mason notes at one point that "it is one of the ironies of recent Supreme Court history that even the so-called Bill of Rights, Amendment, one through Eight, particularly the First—a notable Anti-Federalist victory in 1790—is now appraised as a defeat for states rights." The Princeton professor apparently agrees in the book's concluding chapter with Mr. Warren, when the Chief Justice said "the Federal Government need become involved only when the states fail to act."

The Eagles have undergone a number of changes since Joe Kuharich took over as coach for this season and this could be supplying some of the added interest in the encounter. Kuharich left Notre Dame to take on the assignment of making the Eagles title contenders again.

The game will be the next in the last of the exhibition season for both clubs, which open their pre-season campaigning August 8. In those openers the New Yorkers play at Minnesota, while the Eagles take on the Baltimore Colts at HERSHEY, Pa.

WHERE'S ARNIE?

PGA Stymies Palmer. Sunday was to be Arnold Palmer Day for the benefit of the Mercer County Heart Association at the new Princeton Country Club on Route One. But what promised to be a highly successful "Heart Benefit" turned out instead to be a very disappointing heart-breaker for the association, the club and hundreds of golf enthusiasts.

In spite of frantic 11th hour efforts, Palmer's appearance had to be cancelled — and all in account of a group of adamant and reportedly disgruntled officials at the Insurance

City Open up in Hartford, Conn. Because of their insistence, the PGA was forced to invoke a rule which forbids member pros from appearing in any other event (even for a worthy cause) within 200 miles of a PGA-sponsored tournament. And the Hartford club, it seems, is 192 from Princeton, a mere eight miles short of the limit.

Understandably, heart fund and other officials could say little more about the Hartford club officials' uncompromising attitude than: "We're just sick about the whole thing." But, because of Hartford's intransigence, Palmer regretfully had to cancel or be penalized by a fine and suspension from the PGA. So the local battalions of Arnie's Army had no alternative but to strike their colors and cancel the march.

In his wire to sponsors of the exhibition here, Palmer said that he would be free to make an appearance on Labor Day, September 7. The new date will be considered by sponsors from the Heart Association and the club as soon as they "recover from the months of work and the most unfortunate turn of events last weekend." Meanwhile, they foresee hours of work refunding ticket money from Sunday's scrub-off.

Why did the Insurance City Open officials take "such damaging action against a recognized charity," as one person stated it? According to reports, there was only one reason: the Hartford tournament did not attract more than a few of the leading pros because of the course on which it is played and because most of the top touring competitors have just been through a long grind of major contests.

As a result of the ICO promoters' insistence, however, the advance sale of 1,800 tickets, the large gate sale, the long strings of hotdogs (maybe over 200 miles worth) and the gallons of soft drinks all had to be cancelled here. "Better luck on Labor Day," is the hope.

ERC VICTOR OVER ETS

RCA Alone in First Place. Engineering Research defeated Educational Testing, 5-3, last week in the Business Softball League, enabling RCA to retain sole possession of first place in the league standings. Two games were not played due to vacation problems.

Carl Valenti pitched winning ball for ERC, to move it into a second-place tie with ETS. Al Meyers went 3 for 3 for ETS, and Roger Cole picked up two hits for ERC.

In the other game RCA out-slugged Hopewell TV, 14-12, to win its tenth game of the season. Jim Clark had a home — Continued on Page 25

Frankly, the Sperry Top-Sider canvas oxford is the most expensive you can buy. But it's worth every penny. "I WASN'T APPOINTED to integrate the church," says Bishop Prince Taylor Jr., who will direct from 70 Nassau Street the more than 600 Methodist churches in New Jersey. "I was appointed — and I happened to be a Negro."

News Of The CHURCHES

METHODIST BISHOP HERE

Busy Year Ahead, Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr. came quietly into Princeton last week on the wave of reform which has swept American Methodism.

"The very fact that I have been appointed a bishop," he said Thursday, "indicates that the church doesn't feel that color is a badge of membership."

Bishop Taylor, 57, is one of two Negroes who have just been named to govern predominantly "white areas." Grayling, quick-spoken, he will head New Jersey's more than 600 Methodist churches from offices in the 70 Nassau Street building at Palmer Square. His flock numbers some 200,000 members and their pastors. About 5% of the membership is Negro.

For eight years resident bishop of Liberia, he served briefly this spring as bishop of the Baltimore Area of the Methodists' Central Jurisdiction, the separate-but-equal division for Negro churches established in 1939.

At the moment, Bishop Taylor is living at the Nassau Inn and he has borrowed the office of the Rev. Charles W. Marker at Princeton Methodist Church. He and his wife, a former teacher, will occupy for the coming year the McLean Circle home of Dr. Kenneth K. Chen, a Princeton University faculty member on sabbatical leave.

Seated in the church lounge, he discussed his June 26 appointment, which he termed "a significant breakthrough." He said that integration within the Methodist church, "has made material progress in the border states... but to me? it's naive to talk about just the racial question. There is a whole spectrum of problems within the church."

The AMES. He noted that joint services are being conducted this summer, for the second year by the Princeton Methodist Church and Mount Pisgah African Methodist-Episcopal Church.

"There are conversations going on," he said in answer to a question on possible merger of the two denominations. "The reasons for the AME's withdrawal are growing fewer and fewer every day. I think it is a wonderful thing."

Church Family. Bishop Taylor is the son, grandson and nephew of Methodist ministers, two of his brothers are ministers and several of his sisters have married ministers.

Born in Hennessey, Oklahoma, he grew up in Mississippi, graduated from Houston-Tillotson College in Austin, Texas and studied for the ministry at Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta. He received his master's degree from New York University.

From 1931 to 1940, Bishop Taylor served as pastor of churches in North Carolina and New York City. In 1941 he became assistant to the president as well as a teacher at Bennett College. Four years later, he returned to Gammon Seminary, where he headed the Christian Education department. His elevation to bishop came in 1956.

Of his years in Liberia, he says, "I liked Liberia very much. People have such misconceptions of Africa — tales of savages running around. I have been amazed and greatly challenged as I met African leaders — their interest in world affairs. I am amazed by the wisdom of illiterate people. I have talked with chiefs who couldn't write their names, and yet what unusual wisdom they had."

Interrupted by a phone call, he returned to say, "That was one of the Princeton doctors asking the name of the Liberian hospital I'm interested in. It's wonderful, she wants to send some supplies. You know, I still have responsibilities in Liberia."

"When I went to Africa, there were only a few countries. I have had a chance to visit all over Africa and have met its leaders. It's an education that no man can get by reading a book."

As he traveled around Africa, he saw the Peace Corps in action in many places. "I cannot tell you how much I admire the work it is doing."

New Jersey. From his Princeton headquarters, Bishop Taylor will be molding together an entirely new organization. Previously, northern New Jersey churches were banded into conferences which were part of the New York area; southern Jersey conferences came under the jurisdiction of Bishop Fred Corson, head of the Philadelphia area. The Negro churches were part of the Central Jurisdiction.

"I held three areas in one week," the bishop remarked with some amusement. Recalled from Liberia to head the Central Jurisdiction's Baltimore area, he held the post only a few days. The Methodists' Negro churches and pastors within its geographical jurisdiction. For a day or so, it looked like Bishop Taylor was out of a job, as his Baltimore Area was abolished. He then was appointed head of the newly-created New Jersey Area.

"There will be 21 churches from the Central Jurisdiction that will come into the southern New Jersey conference, transferred under mandate by July 1, 1965," he said.

In addition to his appointment as Bishop of New Jersey, Bishop Taylor is president-designate of the 92-member Council of Methodist Bishops. He will take office next year for a one-year term. He acknowledged that he has a busy year ahead as he hurried off to greet Dr. Jeanette Munro with her box of medicines for Liberia.

Cool and Capacious Colonial

Enseñe happily against a background of lovely tall trees on three sides and facing a quiet West End street, this brick and shingle Colonial has a nicely settled in look that belies its mere 4 years. However, youth, construction and fine care have combined to keep it in excellent condition, particularly remarkable for a house that was built for and inhabited by a large family.

Virtually every room in the house is large to extra-large; closets are innumerable (several are walk-ins); storage space is almost unlimited; and the whole house is COOL, COOL, COOL. Very little temperature difference between first and second floors on a hot summer day indicates insulation that augurs well for winter too.

Entrance hall, living room, library, dining room, marvelous modern family kitchen with eating extension, laundry, powder room are on the 1st floor. Upstairs are 5 lovely double bedrooms and 3 tiled baths. Downstairs (actually basement but with nothing visible to remind you of it) is almost all paneled and includes playroom with built-in bar, large bedroom, real working study, storage or workroom and, essential if not exciting, heater room. 2 acres, 2 car garage, about 2 miles from town center, 2 minutes from Johnson Park School. $85,000

Boston Reads 'Em Too!

VERMONT RENTAL. Schoolhouse, furnished, for rent in Greensboro, Vermont, on Casplan Lake. Available till August 25 by week or longer period. Phone 924-0168, evenings 7-2-24

One of the bulging July issues of TOWN TOPICS had not been off the press for more than two days when the converted schoolhouse was rented — to a woman who was reading her copy of the paper in Boston, Mass.

TOWN TOPICS' long-distance record for renting or selling houses was established some years ago, during the Korean conflict. A Princetonian who had subscribed with the express purpose of buying a house when he returned to civilian life made preliminary arrangements to do so in a letter written in a fox-hole half-way round the world.

Chances are your ad will bring replies from considerably nearer home, but you'll get results, even if not from Boston or Korea. That's why TOWN TOPICS has a greater volume of advertising than any other Princeton paper.

ARE YOU NEW TO PRINCETON? You'll find "Almanac for Newcomers" delightfully interesting and informative reading. Copies available without charge at TOWN TOPICS, 4 Mercer Street. 9-19-64

FURNISHED APARTMENTS AVAILABLE near the Lake adjoining Holiday Inn, Millstone River Apartments. No lease required. Especially desirable for those awaiting housing or for short stay in area. Please call 452-9100. 3-12-64

IN MEMORIAM

Charles Grosvenor Osgood, a titan of Princeton Past and Present and one of the inspirational teachers of our turbulent century, whose death early Tuesday morning at age 93 symbolized for many the end of an era in the history of Princeton. About this gentle philosopher, and he was that above all, there clung—without any pretensions on his part—an aura of greatness which at times seemed to touch all of those associated with him and the countless 100's of former students who carried "out from Nassau Hall" a sense of sharing in what he loved to call "The Creed of A Humanist," the title of his last volume.

Contending that the world's preoccupation with science has clouded the individual's identity, Osgood strongly believed: "The world has not struggled to its present peak of civilization just by mass movements or methods of research. Always behind mass and method moves an individual working with individuals. So, if the world now on our hands is to be saved from barbarism, it will not be by mass education or mere knowledge, but by living individuals, and by concern for the individual, be he poet, artist, sage, teacher, student, or undistinguished citizen."

The Pennsylvania-born, Yale-trained Osgood, whose first Princeton students returned last month to celebrate their 58th Reunion, joined the ranks of professors emeriti more than a quarter-century ago upon completing 32 years in the University's Department of English. One of the "preceptor guys" hand-picked by Woodrow Wilson in 1905, and known far and wide long after his so-called "retirement" for his Stockton street open houses for students, Osgood had little respect for academic traditions and developed courses which sliced through arbitrarily defined boundaries and he peddled in motion the trend that uprooted narrow, formalism in favor of unifying programs of study.

For 15 years a Trustee of the Princeton Public Library, long a member of the New Jersey Library Commission, and active in major scholarly organization including the American Philosophical Society, Osgood relinquished his teaching responsibilities two years "early" (1957) in order to devote more time to teaching and research. The author of "The Voice of England," a celebrated history of English Literature, a "Poetry As A Means of Grace," he was the supervising editor of the definitive works of poet Edmund Spenser in 1917 and the final index in 1936.

Early in the 1930's, Osgood, an outspoken critic what he didn't like in American education, in a Princeton Phi Beta Kappa Address defined liberal education in terms that have since been quoted on innumerable occasions and on campuses as far away as Delhi and Manila. He took a hard look at the world around him, selected "The Proper Study" as his subject and proceeded to spell out his "Creed of A Humanist": Men should "do their work and rethink their thoughts to a new agreement on a scale not shortened to the quaint focus of this little life, but adjusted to the infinite reaches apprehended by the faith that transcends knowledge."

For understanding down through the decades all Emerson meant when he wrote "we do not count a man's years until he has nothing else to count"; for constantly setting for himself, and for others, new goals for achievement; for his selfless devotion to the ideals by which he lived; he will long be honored with gratitude and affection by those privileged to call themselves friends and neighbors.
